SYNOPSIS.

THE CITY. District Attorney's demands upon "something" being joint in Venues, and finds roulette and poker games are still in full blast; register of the so-called "clubs" secured, and full list of names who have registered is known. Ambassador Creel of Mexico, guest of honor at one of the most brilliant banquets ever given in the host being E. L. Doheny. Members of the Jewish faith planning to establish a Hebrew university in Angeles, which will ultimately become one of the most important schools of the world... Judge A. H. Hupp, deciding that leaving alone all right to study in part his hand... Man from Missouri the bargain he made in his boyhood, and seeks from the County Recorder, but denied him... Three Councilmen stand against recommendation of Committee for $300,000 fire and police... Board of Public Works recommend to the Council today issue of $1,000,000 in 4 per cent bonds... Mayor Harper's agents would make him tail on Bryan Presidential ticket, since case brings out graphic tale struggles in the grasp of money... Street-singing negro, thrice gone home in silence... Resident inspector finds County Jail wonderfully clean... Five-year-old girl crushed to death between elevator and side of wall. A steamer had just cleared the bridge when the first section fell. The water thrown up by the debris came clear over the bridge of the steamer.

HELD DOWN IN WATER. The captain at once lowered boats. The small boats piled backward and forward over the sunken wreckage for half an hour, but there was no sign of life. The twisted iron and steel had its victims in a terrible grip.

A few floating timbers and the broken strands of the bridge toward the north shore were the only signs that anything unusual had happened. There was not a ripple on the smooth surface of the St. Lawrence as it swept along toward the Gulf.

All the men drowned were employees of the Phoenixville Bridge Company and sub-contractors of Quebec and Montreal.

At 10 o'clock tonight sixteen bodies had been recovered, and of the eight men at Lewis Hospital, two are not expected to live through the night.

NEARING COMPLETION.

The Quebec bridge was begun about seven years ago, and it was to be finished in 1909. Subsidies had been granted by the Federal provincial governments and the city of Quebec and the estimated cost of the work was $10,000,000. The Phoenixville Bridge Company of Pennsylvania had the contract for the construction of the bridge, and crews were working from both sides of the river.

Under this agreement construction had been proceeding. When completed, the bridge will have accommodation for double track railway, two lines of electric trams, and two roadway for foot and vehicle travel at the time of the collapse, the cantilever span on the south side of the river had been completed as well as the approaching span and some two hundred feet of the connecting span between the cantilevers.

LONGEST SINGLE SPAN BRIDGE IN THE WORLD.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M. MONTREAL, Aug. 29.—The Quebec bridge was remarkable in that it was to be the longest single-span cantilever in the world, the length of the span in the center being 1,800 or 2,000 feet longer than that of Flirth bridge, at present the world's longest single-span bridge.

There has been no bridge across the St. Lawrence below Montreal. At Quebec city traffic was ferried across the river. A number of citizens secured a charter from the Dominion government to bridge the St. Lawrence River.

A subsidy of $1,000,000 was secured from the Dominion government and another of $250,000 from the government of the province of Quebec, while the city of Quebec gave a grant of $600,000. The people put up $650,000. The contract was let for the erection of the stone work to M. P. Davis & Co. for the iron work to the Phoenix Iron Company of Phoenixville. Work was begun in 1900. The original estimate of the cost was to be in the neighborhood of $3,500,000, but this was found to be too small. The company, finding itself in difficulty and the government needing a bridge for the National Transcontinental Railway, the agreement was reached by which the government agreed to guarantee the bonds of the company up to $7,000,000.

BRIDGE TUMBLERS.

Big Structure Goes Into River.

Eighty-four Workmen Are Buried in the St. Lawrence.

Three-quarters of a Mile Collapses Without Any Warning.

Ten-Million-Dollar Bridge Begun Seven Years Ago Nearly Built.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M. QUEBEC, Aug. 29.—A section of the new bridge across the St. Lawrence River, five miles below this city, collapsed late today, carrying scores of bridge workmen and mechanics into the water. A close estimate places the number of lives lost at eighty-four, though this may prove too conservative.

The bridge was about a mile and a half in length, and half of it, from the south shore to middle stream, crumpled up and dropped into the water. Ninety men were at work on this section of the structure.

When the whistle had blown at 5:30 o'clock for the men to quit work for the day, there came a grinding sound from the bridge mid-stream. The men turned to see what had happened, and an instant later the cry went up: "The bridge is falling."

DEATH AT THEIR HEELS.

The men made a rushoward, but the distance was too great for them to escape.

The fallen section of the bridge dragged others after it, the snapping girders and cables booming like a crash of artillery.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES. BERLIN, Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Capt. Hagemann of the 87th Regiment, stationed at Coblenz, shot himself through the head today on the regimental parade ground, it is reported from Friederichsfeld, and two lieutenants of the same regiment have disappeared.

Other officers were involved in a scandal of the same character as that which has made the "Knights of the Round Table" notorious—cases which come under noted section 173 of the Criminal Code.

Capt. Hagemann had been indicted, on testimony given by his servant, but he was acquitted, and the servant was sent to trial for blackmailing. Other evidence came out which seemed to leave no doubt that Hagemann was guilty, and he shot himself.

How the two sensitive officers were able to keep quiet yet come to light, but it is thought that their flight has put the police on a track which will lead to further scandalous revelations.

Woeifl, the proprietor of a teahouse in Munich, who is awaiting trial on a charge of blackmailing on similar cases, tried to kill himself yesterday by strangling with a towel and a handkerchief. He is now constantly watched.

MOUNTED INSPECTORS NEEDED.

United States to Patrol Mexican Boundary Line to Keep Out Forbidden Aliens.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES. WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Having been informed by the immigration inspectors on the Mexican boundary that they are unable to prevent aliens of the forbidden classes from crossing the line, Commissioner-General Sargent has decided to recommend to the Secretary of Commerce and Labor that mounted inspectors be employed on that service.

Ten or twelve additional inspectors have been put on during the past month, and not less than a dozen mounted inspectors will be asked for at first.

ACCUSED OF TREASON.

German Army Officers Arrested Following the Discovery of the Sale of Secret Instructions.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES. CORLENTZ (Germany) Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A sergeant of the Twenty-third Regiment of Artillery has been arrested here on the charge of treason. He was detected through the discovery on the person of a traveler at Herbolsthal, on the Belgian frontier, of copies of secret instructions regarding artillery firing as practiced in the German army and which are only confined to certain officers under stringent safeguards.

MINERS STILL OUT.

Report That Strikers at Goldfield Were Ordered to Return to Work Proves Untrue.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M. GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Aug. 29.—Neither the officials of the Goldfield Consolidated Mines Company nor the officers of the miners' union know anything about the report telegraphed from there that the miners who walked out of the Mohawk and Combination mines have been ordered to return to work by Vice-President Mahoney of the Western Federation of Miners.

HALT CALLED ON UNIONITES.

United States Steel Corporation Issues Edict.

Efforts to Unionize Plants Ordered Stopped.

Warning Is Heeded by Head of Amalgamated.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The United States Steel Corporation has issued a warning to the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers to cease all efforts to unionize the sheet and tin-plate mills of the company, located at Vandergrift and Scottdale.

These mills, as well as all other mills which were originally a part of the Carnegie Steel Company, have been conducted as non-union shops since the famous Homestead strike, and the Carnegie Steel Company will not permit the men to be organized, although the same scale is paid as in the union plants.

For some time past the Amalgamated has slowly and secretly been making gains in the Vandergrift and Scottdale plants. Recently officials of the steel corporation discovered the movement and demanded that a stop be put to it. No attention was paid to the warning. Within the past week the steel corporation has notified President James J. McCallie, president of the Amalgamated, that unless the efforts to unionize the mills are abandoned, the company will refuse to sign the union scale for the mills at Newcastle, Nella, Sharon and Struthers, where the corporation has given the union recognition.

The announcement comes as a bitter blow to the Amalgamated. It is said here tonight that the request of the steel corporation will be complied with and all attempts to unionize the Vandergrift and Scottdale mills will be abandoned.

CONSERVATIVE MEN WIN.

Unionists at Angels Camp Elect New Officers and Trouble May Be Averted.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

STOCKTON, Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To the great surprise of the local stockholders in the vicinity of Angels Camp, where a lock-out has been in force for months, information was received late tonight that the union miners remaining in the district, at an election held yesterday, defeated all the leaders for reelection and put in an entire new set of officers to conduct their business the coming term.

The element that has been in control of the union has stubbornly refused to concede a point, and declared they would not give up their demands until they received their demands.

The new officers are more conservative, and it is believed they will at once frame up a proposition and meet the mine owners half way in an effort to effect a settlement. It is hinted that the mines will soon be opened again and the town put on a live basis once more.

STRIKERS BEGIN TO MAKE ADVANCES.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.) NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—In a circular sent out today by the officers of the Telegraphers' Union, it was declared that the strikers would ignore any suggestion of the company to compromise, and stand immovable on all demands. It was also asserted that many strike-breakers have left the company, and wholesale desertions are alleged to have taken place from the working forces in the offices yesterday. The public is asked to use the mails, instead of the wires.

Officials of the two big companies said that the strikers were beginning to make advances with a view to returning to their work.

SALT LAKE COMMERCIAL CLUB TIRE OF STRIKE.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.) SALT LAKE, Aug. 29.—The Commercial Club of Salt Lake City today passed and, through its Committee on Arbitration, telegraphed to President Roosevelt, the president of the Inter-Parliamentary Union, who arrived in Washington today fresh from the sessions. There was at first a disagreement between the representatives of the two countries on the question of arbitration, but with this object out of the way, the delegates became in thorough accord on international arbitration.

The team work of the United States and Germany at the conference is causing much comment throughout Europe, says Mr. Bartholdi.

"This conference will lay the foundation for the permanent peace of the world," he said. "The world generally is laboring under the wrong impression as to the probable results of the conference. It is now moving along right lines and will be prolific of results that the practical friends of the cause of arbitration and peace have advocated."

He was asked how Europe viewed the talk of war between the United States and Japan.

"Nothing is more popular in Europe than the possibility of trouble between the two countries," he said. "However there they want somebody to pull them chestnuts out of the fire. They want a war between the United States and Japan."

"I told them their wishes would not be granted, that Japan is not ready to fight and we do not know what there is to fight over."

TAKES CROWD WITH HIM.

La Follette, Prevented from Talking Politics to Teachers, Continues Speech Outside Hall.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] United States Senator R. A. La Follette of Wisconsin had a disagreement with the officials of the Allegheny County Teachers' Institute here this afternoon. Senator La Follette was engaged to deliver an address to the teachers on "Representation of the People." He had insisted on his right to read his resolution and not have an adjournment forced on him arbitrarily. Mr. Peabody, glancing at his watch and seeing the time for his Mutual Life Board meeting had nearly arrived.

He is forced then, to insist upon presenting my motion for adjournment.

The motion was promptly seconded.

Mr. Harahan put the question, and declared the meeting adjourned.

Mr. Fish still holding the floor, professed vehemently against what he characterized as an adjournment and an ouster. Mr. Vanderbilt and Mr. Lutzen had already started to leave the room, Mr. Goetz being the first to go. As Mr. Peabody was making his exit Mr. Fish pointed at him and cried out, "You will be held accountable for this outrage."

Hearing himself threatened, Mr. Peabody walked back into the board room and asked Mr. Fish, "What do you mean? I am not不懂 your language." Mr. Fish, who was now enraged, pointed scornfully at Mr. Harpermitted to testify that he had produced the blue salary vouchers before the grand jury. Henry expedited this testimony finally by withdrawing his objection to it.

CALLS HENRY A BLACKGUARD.

The bad blood between Henry and Delmas showed itself again at the afternoon session. John H. Ryan, secretary of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, was called to the stand to identify the franchise granted by that body to the Pacific Telephone Company. Henry and Delmas got into a wrangle over the character, physicality, of the evidence offered, and finally Henry exclaimed impatiently to Delmas,

"Oh, well; I am not as particular about my dress and speech as you are, anyhow."

"I have always understood," said Delmas, "that there was nothing more than to refer to a gentleman's dress."

"That is true," said Henry, "and there is no man who is more punctilious in his dress and less careful in his conduct than yourself."

"There is no greater blackguard living, than you are," answered Delmas.

I desire this evidence to be read without any further exchange of words between us," Judge Sawyer.

John J. Flynn, statistician and auditor of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, was the last witness of the afternoon. The testimony he gave in the direct examination strengthened the case of the Gile, but a long and at times technical cross-examination by Delmas blunted the impression it made.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—In accordance with his announced intention to postpone action on motions to set aside the indictments against the alleged grafters until the Supreme Court decided on the validity of the grand jury, Judge Duane today continued the hearing on the charge against Abe Ruef of offering bribes to the Parkside realty people until September 6.

COMMITTEE FAVORS BIG WATER SCHEME.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—The Federated Water Committee of this city has adopted a report on the proposed purchase of the Spring Valley distributing plant by the municipality. While favoring the proposition, the committee declined to place any valuation on the system, but simply adopted the report of the subcommittee which recommended that the city should secure a five years' option on the property of the corporation, and in negotiations should endeavor to bring into being both the city and the corporation to agree upon a price at which the plant and company's rights could be bought.

WALL STREET VERSION OF THE I. C. RUMPS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Wall street found relaxation and no little amusement today in sifting the various reports of the fight between Stuyvesant Fish and James T. Harahan, which formed the postlude to Wednesday's meeting of the Illinois Central's board of directors. Before the close of the market it had been pretty well established that Mr. Fish did not strike Mr. Harahan with his fist, as was reported by the Chicago Tribune.

Before King Alfonso married Princess Ena of Battenberg, it was reported that he was much in love with Princess Victoria of Germany. But her Lutheran papa frowned on the Spanish King and would not hear of her embracing the Roman Catholic faith.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 29.—Luke E. Wright, former Ambassador to Japan, arrived here on the steamer Minnesota. He has declared that there will be no war of this country with Japan.

"In the first place," he said, "I do not believe Japan is able financially to wage such a war. Besides, it is a fact that the Japanese government sincerely favors peace and will bend every effort to keep the relations of the two governments amicable.

"I know nothing will happen to induce this government to consider giving up the Philippines. We must retain those islands and develop them as they are capable of being developed. Furthermore, we need them to strengthen our trade relations with the Orient."

No serious damage was done to the ship, although it was confined to the bunkers.

A survey will have to be made to determine the exact cost of repairs.

Bankruptcy Ends Chicago Speculator's Career.

Put Up Houses by Mortgaging Each Story.

Got in Too Deep and His Fortune Went Smash.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This is the story of how a young man made a million out of nothing in two years, lost it in three months and has now gone into voluntary bankruptcy with assets of $150.

In the United States District Court, Jacob S. Halpin, who recently lived in West One Hundred and Eighth street, but now has no residence, filed a petition in bankruptcy, placing his liabilities at $1,141,313.57. His secured liabilities are estimated at $35,250, while his assets are $150.

Halpin, 30, is a young man with a wife and children, associating himself with two other young men in a speculative building business. The firm was known as the Lenox Building Association and it erected flats in Harlem. They had practically not a dollar, but managed to scrape together enough to secure a building plot with a big mortgage and to acquire a sum of thousands of dollars in it. Then they obtained a loan from a bank and put up one story of the building, mortgaged that and put up a second story. By this process they erected a fair-looking apartment house, which they packed with tenants and sold at a handsome profit.

This venture put the concern on its feet and automobiles for the husbands and seashell coats for the wives were in every window.

Another operation was conducted to a successful issue and Halpin found himself quoted in the seven-figure class.

No sooner had the partners put up a house, growing under mortgages and stocks, than they began to make easier to buy it at a fancy increase over the cost, assuming the mortgages. The banks which loaned the money for the operations suggested that the company go in deeper. The Lenox Building Association was prosperous and prominent and the partners were millionaires—on paper.

Then came the slump. Money lenders wanted 6 per cent, for mortgages and 3 and 4 per cent. in commissions and bonuses.

But the partners continued to put up three six-story apartment buildings, forty foot front each, with all the latest wrinkles, in One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street, near Lenox avenue. The houses went up story by story, each higher, weighty, weighted down with mortgages.

Nine months ago the crash came. Halpin went to bed one night a millionaire—on paper; next morning he was worth a million less than nothing. Then came foreclosures, suits on buildings, losses on all the big investments. Duncans rang the doorknob for money when Halpin did not know where to get any for the wife and babies.

Today's petition winds up Halpin's brief millions. He has moved from his last home. His lawyer does not know where he is staying and he is said to be anxiously looking for work such as that for which he formerly employed dozens of men.

Young Man Posing as Agent of Southern Pacific Secures Contributions, but an Official of Road Says no Man Answering His Description is in Company's Employ.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representing himself as an agent in the colonization department of the Southern Pacific Railroad, a man who gives his name as J. R. Biles has been canvassing the downtown district and inducing business men to subscribe $20 toward the expenses of a trip to California, where he says there is a large tract of land that can be purchased and held for great profit, with a map showing a large tract in Southern California, at a place called San Rafael.

"Mr. Biles" explains that he is forming a group of 300 prospective buyers to go to California to look at the property.

As he is an extremely fluent talker, he has little difficulty in interesting his hearers. He declares that the expenses of those who go on the trip are to be paid, but he asks for a deposit of $2 as a guarantee of good faith. How many persons he has seen and how much money he has collected is not known.

L. H. Nutting, general eastern passenger agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad, issued a statement yesterday that no person named J. R. Biles is employed by the company or has agreed to act for it in any capacity.

Beautiful, but Unknown Woman, Testifies in Case of Edward Vanderbilt. That Spook Priestess on One Occasion Was Ardently Embraced by an Agued Man.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Her identity concealed and efforts to discover it meeting with a threat of fine and imprisonment, a beautiful, well-dressed woman, about 25 years old, was the chief witness this afternoon in the inquiry into the mental condition of Edward Vanderbilt whose daughter has instituted proceedings to have him declared mentally incompetent, consequent upon his wedding to Mrs. May Pepper, a Spiritualistic medium.

Attired in a blue silk dress, modestly cut, a blue hat with white flowers and a thick blue veil, the woman, a striking blonde, calmly took the witness stand. A juryman asked her to remove her veil, and she did so. She first identified a picture of Mrs. Pepper-Vanderbilt in a doilette costume. She said she had known Mrs. Pepper for a long time in Providence, R. I., and here. She mentioned the names of several men whom she said she and Mrs. Pepper had known. Among those she named were J. Edward Allen, 76 years old, of Providence, R. I.; Frederick K. Libby, 50 years old; Mr. Markwell, a member of the Spiritualistic church in Brooklyn, and a Mr. Winslow, who, the witness said, while engaged to Mrs. Pepper, committed suicide.

The mysterious witness said that the Mr. Allen, in one occasion, entered Mrs. Pepper's room and kissed her ardently for five minutes. The witness said she was looking through the keyhole at the time. More than a year ago, alleged the witness, Mrs. Pepper suffered from Bright Eyes, for which Mr. Vanderbilt asserts put him in communication with his first wife, now dead. Bright Eyes, Mrs. Pepper said, according to the witness, liked Mr. Allen, but objected to Mr. Libby, at the home. Mrs. Pepper and his son, J. Edward, 21, of New York, in the same house, there were two roosters named "Allen" and "Fred" for the men mentioned.

Mrs. Pepper told her, said the system, woman in blue, that she did not believe in the Bible. Her views on love were that it was not eternal, said the witness, and that one person might love many. Mrs. Pepper, some time after her meeting Mr. Vanderbilt, told the witness, the latter said, that he did not love her, and if he proposed to her she "would put him in his place."

On January 1, 1904, said the witness, Mr. Markwell entered a parlor where Mrs. Pepper was, and, greeting her with "Hello, Chieft," kissed her.

FOURTH VIOLENT DEATH DURING PRESENT SUMMER.

Headquarters and Staff of Department of Lakes Are Unfortunate. Latest Victim of Accident is Son of Gen. Carter, Electrocuted While at College.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Some amazing fatality seems to hang above the headquarters and staff of the Department of the Lakes.

It was recalled at headquarters that the accidental electrocution of Brig.-Gen. William H. Carter's son makes the fourth violent death this summer among sons of high officers connected with the department.

Gen. Carter himself took note of the black marks which fate was recording against the members of the headquarters staff when word was brought to him recently that a third violent death had been suffered by some of his officers.

"It would seem as if this office had been marked by fate," he said. Gen. Carter's son, L. H. Carter, who was killed at the University of Illinois Tuesday by coming into contact with a live wire, was the fourth victim among sons of officers of the headquarters staff.

Others killed during the last year were Midshipman James F. Cruse, son of Maj. Cruse, now quartermaster at Omaha; Guy Eastman, son of Maj. General H. Eastman, chief of ordnance officer; Reginald Dodd, son of Lieut.-Col. G. A. Dodd, Gen. Carter's chief of staff.

Relic of Reign of Terror in Putting Criminals to Death Again Will Be Utilized as Result of Epidemic of Attacks Upon Women and Children.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
PARIS, Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As the result of an epidemic of attacks on women and children which is sweeping over France it is probable that the guillotine will be restored.

So strongly was public opinion in favor of capital punishment in favor of execution—a relic of the reign of terror—that the Chamber of Deputies two years ago refused to make an appropriation for the executioner's pay, and the official quit the country, out of a job. The atrocious murder of a child by a thug named Sollicitant, with many similar crimes, has so stirred up the country that beheading is likely to be reintroduced, especially as the Chamber has reconsidered its action of two years ago and has set apart a sum for the remuneration of the executioner.

The high court today denied the appeal of Sollicitant, who was condemned to death with his wife. Sollicitant will appeal to President Fallières, who cannot, in the present state of public feeling, commute his sentence, so that the murderer is likely to be the first victim of the guillotine for many months.

The public and the newspaper are calling for an example to be made of Sollicitant, on account of the blood-thirsty nature of his crime, and it is urged that such an example would check the wave of brutal assaults now terrorizing the country.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES
[CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—(Exclusive Dispatch)] Reduced one-half rates in connection with homeseekers' excursions are to be abolished throughout the territory on and after January 1 next.

Presently these rates were put into effect under the scalping of home tickets. Since the passing of the homeseeker act, it has been held illegal to make these reductions without giving thirty days' notice and special tariffs with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

This involved considerable labor and expense, to avoid which the Western Passenger Association voted to abolish them provided the southwestern roads would do the same. By a vote taken in the Southwestern Passenger Association they have now agreed to do so. Another change to be brought about by the passage of the 2-cent passenger rate is the adoption of the certificate form of ticket, and the southwestern roads have agreed to do away with it at the end of the present year.

October 8 is the date set by the court for the hearing on the application for injunction. In the meantime, it is said, a meeting of creamery company representatives and officials of the railway and express companies is to take place for the purpose of possible compromise.

Protest against the proposed action of the railway companies has been made with the Interstate Commerce Commission, but it is not to be considered within a year according to attorneys for the complainants and, for this reason, the Circuit Court injunction is being sought.

suspicious and urging that old antipathies toward the Russians should be forgotten.

A number of prominent Japanese, alarmed at the newspaper attacks coupling the name of Russia with those of Rumania, have appealed to the authorites for a guard arm permission to carry arms for self-protection.

HE JOLLIED THE PREACHER.

Made Facetious Response in Marriage Ceremony and Was Shown the Door.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES

WORCESTER (Mass.) Aug. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] James T. Harahan, president of the Illinois Central Railroad, reached Chicago late this afternoon, and, as he alighted from the Pennsylvania train, the union passenger conductor uttered defiance at Stuyvesant Fish, who was to be fought a battle of fists in the directors' meeting of the road at New York.

The shippers also contend that the Interstate Commerce Commission has no authority over car service rules after the transportation has settled a dispute between the railroads and the shippers over uniform car service charges for car service. The shippers declare that what might be fair for one city or section of the country would be very unjust in another and would greatly injure trade.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has been investigating the railroads and the shippers over uniform car service charges for car service. The shippers contend that the freight is subject to a rider on the railroads of uniform charges for car service. The shippers declare that what might be fair for one city or section of the country would be very unjust in another and would greatly injure trade.

"I will take back nothing I have said about Mr. Fish," said Mr. Harahan, with snapping eyes, implying that the statement that he had called his predecessor a liar in the board meeting was not incorrect.

Mr. Harahan arrived on the Chicago morning, Edgedon, and was accompanied by his son. He was received by the station by a group of newspaper men.

"Have you seen the newspaper accounts that you were knocked down and out by Mr. Fish?" he was asked. "No, I have not," he replied. Then, after a pause, "Do I look like a man that had been knocked out?"

"The reports had it that your eyes were blackened," persisted the interviewer. "Were they?"

Mr. Harahan pushed back the peaked cap which he wore, and, looking at his questioner, asked: "Do they look as if they had been blackened?"

He denied that he had been worsted.

HOMELY HITS
BEAT CATES.We Hard Swats Tie Score in Eighth Inning.Crowd Sees Very Many Woozy Errors.Umpire Comes Down to Help at Umpiring.*

Angels 5; Oakland, 4. Eleven pitching conditions were very critical at Chutes Park for two hours yesterday and it looked as if the gum leagues showed signs of a hard fight, but just when the fans were becoming discouraged over the playing, Heine Heitmuller, the new Dutch prince, came through a fifty-yard kick around right and the fans then had time to come to a late supper, for that gave the locals the game in the eleventh inning.

taking about gum boots, there is a lot of stars that played a game yesterday. Some of them could take a morning trip out in the country once a week and look at stock of hay stacks, for a sight of and a stay in still life, might help out of the many runs made but only three were measured with an error. Of course, the perfect man is one college program who wears glasses and has smoked, chewed, drank whisky and played poker in his whole life and never have errors for that class, but you errors they indicate that you are trying to make a good play.

It is necessary to speak about the best plays, for each team made some, but the Angels were the best and might have made more if they had been more time. However, they were enough hard swats to win without the blunders and the team must be impressed with that they were probably well adjusted to score.

After the game yesterday, some of them were over 2000 feet expecting to come home and they sure did have enough.

There were twenty-three hits and six there were of two-horse power.

These were the features of the game,
no sensational catches were made,
and while he did well, the only Kanes rolled in three runs with very little effort in the first four innings, hits and errors, and made them the locals waked from their trances. While the players were booting the ball, Cates was doing it so no one could hit it hard.

He could do nothing with him until the last of the seventh, and then he got the first out with his bat.

In the eighth the Looloo fell on hard for a double and four singles as these were helped out by error. Bliss, three runs came in at once. There were loud cheers and excitement over this, and excitement was intense from then on the finish.

Smithies jumped out in the lead, first in the second inning. Bliss was in left and Cates to right, Burns juggled Halem's sacrifice and easily scored on the infield of Bigbie and Deveraux. The lead run was due to Heitmuller's double over third base. Carlisle's single and Egan's single. The rest came from Halem's single, to Ellie's miff of Bigbie's fly, the fielder's choice that caught the ball and Van Hartman's which forced in Burns. The run resulted from Van Hartman's over first base; Heitmuller's single and Egan's single to left.

The Angels got it's first in the seventh base by Cates. Burns, Halem, Bliss, Burns' double to left field, Cates' single, the first double of the season, for Cal Ewing sent Derrick to help Kelly, and they made out on balls and strikes. This is tough for the bulldog players, theumps frequently made the decision in a close play on the players didn't know which was tick at.

What happened?

HOMAGE TO MEXICO.
FAIRY GARDEN FOR DINERS.

Superb Is the Banquet to Ambassador Creel.

Doheny Dinner for Visitor a Charming Affair.

Sister Republic Honored by Prominent Men.

It is only once in a decade or so that Los Angeles has an opportunity to entertain an Ambassador from a sister republic, and when such occasions come, it is not to be wondered at that represents. Mr. Doheny arranged the dinner, to which he invited about forty of the prominent men of Los Angeles. With few exceptions, the visitors were present, among them being some who had done much in placing Los Angeles in the prominent place it occupies, and it was clear that all of them echoed the sentiment of this community toward the great country to the south.

COMPLIMENT TO MEXICO.

The dinner was given by Mr. Doheny's compliment to the representatives of Mexico who is carrying on a short time in this city, but underneath the surface was exhibited the friendly feeling of the people of this section toward the great country that has grown up under the wise administration of Mexico's "grand old man," Porfirio Diaz, President of the republic.

As a triumph of art and beauty, the banquet was unequalled in few places on the American continent, while, coming down to material things, it probably had few equals anywhere.

Although the banquet has been heralded as a riot of extravagance, there was no indication on the surface that an attempt had been made to do what could be done with an unlimited supply of gold. Everything was in exquisite taste, and it was only when the partici-

A most curious book was discovered last night in the raid of a fashionable gambling hell, run at Venice by Arizona sure-things.

men; it is a register containing the complete list of all the unwary suckers who were suckers. The list of names accompanies the following account of the raid.

At 10 o'clock last night the "Venice Club," on Windward avenue, had two of their own men in tow. The crooked roulette wheel and the "spiked" faro lay-out were reaping a rich crop.

Up the front stairs crept six or eight sleuths of the law. A low whistle from five more stationed under the windows.

Exactly at 10 o'clock, one of the suckers within could be heard taking his regretful farewell; the door opened a crack.

Deputy District-Attorney John North suddenly threw it wide open, and exclaimed: "Every person in this room is under arrest."

It was one of the slickest raids ever pulled off by the District Attorney's office.

The "Venice Club" is an aggregation of tough gamblers from Arizona, who established themselves in the entire top floor of the Venice lodging-house on Windward avenue, Venice.

They had a paraphernalia that would make a porch climber weep with remorse, and their specialty was "trimming" verdant young society men who wanted to be smart and desperate if it cost all pale money; and, then, it is a party received for minimum men arriving at the seaside with a "wad" in search of recreation; they had a flag out for such.

The whole outfit is "pinched;" the District Attorney has taken possession of the crooked outfit, and the Arizona "gent" will drop a little of their bootie in the criminal courts.

Had the raid been postponed one day longer it would have been too late, as the outfit had to have pulled up stakes and gone to Goldfield today.

The District Attorney has been after the game for a long time. But it was very wary.

STEERED BY A STEERER.

Yesterday afternoon, however, a smooth-faced gentleman, with an emotional vest and a "bum rock," found two innocent-looking youths playing a cigar slot machine in front of a cigar stand and invited them into a real game.

They wended their way upstairs in the Venice lodging-house. Just as they started to go up the third floor, one of them stepped on the second step of the stairs, and a loud "buzz-z-z-z-z" resounded through the upper halls. It was the warning.

In the front rooms they could hear chips on a poker table. But their fat Masons Meet at East San Gabriel, Institution and Plan Permanent Support of its Work.

One of the most important and enthusiastic Masonic meetings ever held in Southern California took place on Wednesday at the Masonic Home in East San Gabriel. It was a gathering of the masters or representatives of each of the Blue Lodges of the southern part of the State, there being seventy-five lodges belonging to this jurisdiction.

Besides masters, there were present many other officers, past officers and influential Masons, and a number of representatives of the ladies of the Eastern Star. The subject under discussion was the best method or system for supporting the Masonic Home, and this subject was closely considered.

A fine luncheon was served the visitors in the large dining-room, and after partaking of this the president called the gathering to order and gave a brief account of the meeting, the Masonic Home, the purpose of the meeting, the raising of funds for the establishment, etc., and showed how the property to a city such as this should extend to a man like Ambassador Creel of Mexico the welcome that was accorded him last night at the Alexandria by representative citizens.

In all the world it probably is safe to say that there have been few occasions when such signal honors have been paid by the people of one comparatively small community to the representative of a foreign government. The banquet tendered by E. L. Doheny to Ambassador Creel is without parallel in local history. In elaborate appointments it hardly could be exceeded. It was in such things that dreams are made.

As a compliment and as a welcome to the visiting Ambassador, and as a tribute to the great republic which he represents permitted themselves to indulge in an estimate of what things must have cost that the commercial side came into view.

Bold down to the matter of dollars and cents, it is estimated that the banquet must have cost at least $150 a plate, or something like $9000 for the three hours of entertainment afforded the guests.

But this is ahead of the story.

Mr. Doheny received his guests in the parlors on the mezzanine floor of the Alexandria, at 8 o'clock, when all had arrived. They were seated to the banquet room on the same floor.

LIKE FAIRYLAND.

For the visitors it was like stepping into fairyland as the doors of the hall opened before them. Instead of a room, they found themselves in a beautiful garden, with beautiful vines and flowers all about them, with colored lights glowing in subdued tones, with voices whispering and with gold and silver rattling.

For the big room had been transformed under the magic touch of Assistant Manager Joseph Reichl of the hotel, aided and abetted by Manager White, who says these masters of something little less than mystery had been engaged in preparing for the occasion, and the fruits of their labors were apparent on all sides.

The latticed walls had obscured the outlines of the room, and on the green lattices hung clusters of clematis, known as the "breath of heaven." White flowers standing out prominently on the green background.

From the ceiling were festooned great clusters of asparagus plumes.

NIGHT BIRDS BE WARNED.

Judge Grants Divorce Because Husband Leaves Wife All Night.

In granting Mrs. Anna G. Hupp an interlocutory decree of divorce, on the ground of cruelty, Judge Hutton in the Superior Court Wednesday, established the precedent that for a husband to be away from home at night, without his wife's consent, is an act of inhumanity to his better half.

Mrs. Hupp, through Attorney George P. Adams, sued George S. Hupp, the well-known attorney, clubman and athlete, for divorce, on the ground of cruelty, based upon the fact that he would remain away from home for one night to a week at a time. On the witness stand, Mrs. Hupp told Judge Hutton that when she inquired of her husband where he had been, he often replied:

"It makes no difference where I have been, and if you do not like it, you know what you can do."

This stand by Mr. Hupp caused her, stated the wife, great anguish of mind, especially when her husband added that he did not love her, and that his home ties were irksome and he preferred club life and personal freedom.

Hupp filed an answer to the suit, which was commenced on August 9, denying all the allegations in the complaint, but at the trial of the case Wednesday he did not put in an appearance to defend the suit.

Mrs. Hupp, who is a dainty little woman and a pronounced blonde, did not ask for alimony or a share of her husband's property.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Three Councilmen have protested against the recommendation of the Finance Committee for the issue of $300,000 in fire bonds and the bond election may never be called.

The Board of Public Works will recommend to the Council today the issue of $1,000,000 in 4-per-cent. aqueduct bonds.

Councilman Lyon's constituents expect to present to him a jeweled horsehair with the admonition that he put it in his glove the next time he scrapes with the Non-Partisans.

"Bryan and Harper" is the latest Democratic ticket proposed by the Mayor's press agents at the City Hall.

Through hubbas corpus proceedings to the Superior Court yesterday, Mrs. Rose Mullender secured the custody of baby Francis Mullender, whom she claims is her child in spite of testimony taken at a previous hearing.

Francis himself showed marked disapproval of the order of the court.

A contested divorce case, Mrs. Jane Sykes against Berry Sykes, yesterday brought out a graphic tale by the defendant, of struggles in the grasp of money sharks.

Judge Hutton yesterday denied a petition for a writ of replevin by which, it was shown, the officials of the Southern California Title and Abstract Company, C. D. Warden and C. P. Warden, sought to complete a deal by which they would get a barbershop for $2.

Former Police Commissioner Samuel Schenck is on trial in Justice Rose's court, charged with having falsely imprisoned Attorney Bradner W. Lee and Kenneth Preuss.

FIRE BONDS IN THE BALANCE.

THREE COUNCILMEN PROTEST AGAINST ISSUE.

Insist That Money for Improvements Must Come from Current Revenue Funds—Committee Says This Will Mean Scrapping in Many Departments.

Councilman Wren is receiving the support of Lyon and Yonkin in his opposition to the issue of $300,000 in fire bonds; the Finance Committee has decided not to press the question to a vote for another week, and there is a vague uncertainty whether a fire-bond election will be called this year.

Chief Lips and the underwriters are well satisfied with a change in programme that will make money for the firehouse available at once from the current revenue funds, while the others who think the money for firehouses should be raised by a bond election, because there are other places where all the tax money can be used this year.

The Council is pledged to spend $175,000 in permanent improvements for the fire department this year. If the money is set aside for this purpose in the budget, then there will be no question of the city's certifying to get the houses built soon, and at the lowest cash price. If the department must wait for a bond election, and for the sale of the bonds, several months of time will be lost, and the possibility that little will be done in the way of permanent improvements this year.

Councilman Wallace and Dromgold, of the Finance Committee, say that it will be impossible for the city to put through the firehouse bonds unless the fire bonds are voted. Estimates of current expense, as presented by the heads of departments, are $1,000,000 greater than the estimated revenue of the city fire taxes and contributions. The Finance Committee has lopped off about $300,000 of this during the last three weeks. It must go over the list once more and make other reductions to the amount of $300,000 if the city is to finish the year without a deficit.

If the expense of the firehouses must come from the current tax fund, another $300,000 must be pared from the departmental allowance in the budget. A note of alarm has gone up from the City Hall to the effect that the committee is already scrapping the bone in some departments, and that further reductions will practically disrupt the entire program.

The Finance Committee did not decide to recommend fire bonds until we had canvassed every other available way of raising money," said Councilman Dromgold, last night. "The $325,000 of the amount of the outstanding bonds placed us in a position where we must raise money by a bond issue or permit the public service to be crippled badly."

"There is a general cry for additional lots for playgrounds; we are told that the city must appropriate $25,000 this year for the improvement of Agricultural Park, as an evidence that we want the park and will improve it, and can't afford to let it go to waste; otherwise it will remain with the Sixth District Agricultural Association; there is a general public demand for more money for the school teachers; we are told that we must have at one or Boyle Heights and East Los Angeles will be cut off from the remaining portion of the city—all these improvements, we are told, are indispensable for this year. And the same voice says that we must have more money, we must not think of embarrassing the city's credit by voting more bonds."

"This much is certain; if we do not get that $300,000 we must go through the year without money, and such a cutting down of forces and salaries as the city has never known."

Those who oppose a fire-bond issue urge that the city can start all the improvements mentioned, one at a time, half the work will not be finished before next July, and at least half the bill will fall due in the next fiscal year, when there will be no sewer incusus to be carried with current revenue funds.

If these were to be taken among city officials and employees, the majority in favor of fire bonds would be at a rate of at least fifty to one; those who oppose them are the same ones who pay the taxes appears to be that the city should find a way to pass through the fiscal year without borrowing money. These points to be tax and financial limits, will attention to the fact that the estimated revenue for this year is $800,000 greater than for any previous year.

MILLION IN BONDS.

AQUEDUCT ISSUE READY.

An adjourned session of the Council will be held this afternoon for the purpose of passing an ordinance authorizing the immediate issue of $1,000,000 in aqueduct bonds. The Board of Public Works and the Finance Committee of the Council will recommend that the rate of interest shall be 4 per cent.

Before determining on this recommendation the Council Finance Committee received assurance from members of the aqueduct commission that the city will be able to market the entire issue at par on a 4 per cent. rate.

This speaks volumes for the financial standing of Los Angeles, New York City attempted to market an issue of 4 per cents recently and found no buyers and the 4 per cent. were canceled, the new issue bearing 1½ per cent. is to be offered for sale next month. There are few cities in the United States that can sell bonds at a lower rate of interest than that offered to New York.

The demand for the present issue of bonds at a time when the eastern bond market is stagnant is an eloquent refutation of the stories circulated in Denver and some Middle West cities to the effect that the credit of Los Angeles has been impaired seriously by the disaster that befell San Francisco.

Rates of interest in the West have always been higher than those prevalent on the Atlantic seaboard and it is certain a market for Los Angeles' paper can be found in America at a lower rate than that at which Los Angeles sells its bonds.

PRESS AGENTS NOW.

Major Harper's press agents are as ubiquitous as the summer mosquito. Yesterday the Mayor received the following postal card communication from Tallas on the shores of Lake Tahoe:

"Permit me to report progress. After some effort I have secured the endorsement of this precinct for Major Harper as Vice-President. The ticket now reads Bryan and Harper. [Signed]

"ISIDORE DOCKWEILER."

HORSESHOE FOR LYON.

"PUT IT IN YOUR GLOVE."

Seventh Ward politicians are complaining of what they term the removals of City Attorneys. Hewitt, Mr. Hewitt went before the last Democratic convention and asked its endorsement; the Seventh Ward cast the deciding votes that indorsed J. G. Scarborough instead.

Testimony was taken to show that Major Harper had been to see the child every two weeks, except in the past two or three months, when, it was stated, she had been ill.

Judge Bordwell, in granting the writ of habeas corpus, giving the custody of the child to Mrs. Mullender, referred to the former proceedings in Judge Wilbur's court, when Mrs. Mullender's maternity was questioned.

"The more facts that a charge has been made in the Juvenile Court, the less it will be considered by an attorney to be presented to show the mother an improper person to have custody of the child. The fact of a $120 debt for the care of the child will not be considered by the court.

Probably she is legally liable for this debt, but that is a matter for another action. The mother has a right to her child, and an order will be made granting the writ."

Counsel for the petitioner smiled in triumph.

"I'll ask Your Honor to direct that the child be placed in the custody of the Sheriff until the order is made out," he said, and the judge told him that he did not think that was necessary.

"Go over there and get your child," said the attorney to Mrs. Mullender, when the order had been signed.

She did so, but not without a struggle.

In the arrangement, and his little arms clung desperately about the neck of the woman who had cared for him. When the winner of the lottery gained possession of him he lifted up his baby voice in a wail of protest.

To quiet him, he was returned to the motherly breast of Mrs. Robb.

In the ante-room Mrs. Robb finally emerged, smiling, and her gentle manner changed, her gentle demeanor hardened strangely, her kindly eyes grew stern.

"Rose," she said, in a voice of tense emotion, "you have surrendered her charge, be good to him."

The eyes of the tight-lipped woman did not meet the searching gaze of Mrs. Robb, but Mrs. Mullender nodded jerkily.

relieved, and there would be less reason for insisting on unrestricted emigration to the United States.

Let the subject be well discussed and "let there be light" on it. The Times is ready to exploit well-matured views of thinking citizens bearing upon this timely and important national problem.

WARD'S SUCCESSION.

Under the circumstances, the wisest move the Board of Supervisors could make would be to appoint Deputy E. W. Hopkins successor to the late Ben E. Ward as County Assessor. Mr. Hopkins has been Mr. Ward's chief deputy for years, has charge of the details of the work, is more familiar with it than anybody else, and is best fitted for it.

It is safe to assume, in view of Mr. Hopkins's declaration, that if appointed, he would carry out Mr. Ward's policies in a general way. He is in sympathy with them as well as in touch with them. While The Times did not approve of some of the extreme measures taken by Ward, it recognizes that in the main he was right and did the county good service. With some modifications his policies should be continued.

It will not do to permit the machine to get control of this office. Should it succeed in doing so through the complaisance of the Supervisors, should the office be made a political wheel, the interests of the county would suffer—and the Supervisors would suffer, too, when the people should have a chance to get at their scalps. Nothing would better suit the machine than to own the Assessor, and through him turn out the score of schooled deputies who have been working under Ward. In that event, good-bye to a square deal for the ordinary taxpayer!

No doubt a strong political pressure will be brought to bear on the Supervisors to name a man acceptable to the Espey gang; but if they are at all wise, if they have the least regard for public sentiment, they will resist it. Mr. Hopkins is the best qualified man in sight for the vacant post. He is already a trained, skilled, faithful Assessor. There are no objections to him. He would fill the bill. Why not appoint him with unanimity and without delay?

These arguments should appeal with especial force to Supervisor Patterson, who may wish to go before the voters of his district again very soon. He may well take into account that in his district Ben E. Ward received more votes for Assessor than did the machine candidate, and that the people are clearly in favor of a continuance of the fearless and successful policies of the late Assessor. If Mr. Patterson should unite his influence with that of Supervisor Alexander and disqualify Hopkins would be assured and disqualifications in this problem. The Malays and half-breeds of Luzon are very different beings from the Gothic races which conquered southern Europe, to be conquered in turn by the civilization with which they were brought face to face.

OURSELVES AND LATIN AMERICA.

Surely the sins of the fathers are often visited upon their children. We ourselves, because we are mainly of Anglo-Saxon blood, are reaping a harvest of trouble, the seeds of which were sown by our Anglo-Saxon ancestors. The typical Anglo-Saxon is never satisfied unless he is killing something. In his less civilized period of development, his most favorite game was the biggest game, the other races of mankind. He has been a predatory animal, time out of mind. He has invaded and taken possession of the lands of many other races and has committed countless acts of aggression which have made him an unpopular member of the human family.

"We are the heirs of all the ages in the foremost ranks of time," and have been since the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock and the Cavaliers down in the Old Dominion. Divine providence brought our ancestors here with a domain so broad that it left them nothing in the way of foreign territory to desire. To subdue the American wilderness and make it produce crops of wheat and corn furnished sufficient occupation for the Pilgrims and the Cavaliers and all other colonists and all their descendants for three centuries. If there ever was a nation which had no ambition for foreign conquests and no covetous desire directed toward the possessions of any other people, that nation is the United States. Yet, being the heirs of all the ages, we have inherited a good deal of the animosity which other races treasure up against Anglo-Saxons.

This breaks out just now in rather aggravated form among the Latin races who inhabit to the south of us. Fortunately, our nearest neighbor among these, Mexico, has come to know and to understand us well that our relations with that republic are of the most amicable nature. But down in South America, where they are less well acquainted with us and merely look upon us in a general way as Anglo-Saxons, there is a re-crucifixion of hostile feeling that is annoying and the more so because it is so unreasonable. This hostility is particularly ripe just now in Brazil and in Venezuela. It is a new development in Brazil, but chronic on the part of the Venezuelans.

It may be objected that Japan is not able to pay for the islands. She will be in time. By her methods she will make the islands pay for themselves. We can afford to wait. Japan owes us people already half as much money as the islands would bring.

Our government is not pressed for ready cash, and would get more interest from Japan than is paid on our government bonds.

Diplomatically the sale would be a great advantage. It would show the Japanese that we are anything rather than hostile to them. Our willingness to give them a "refusal" of the islands would be an act of great friendliness. We would and could do nothing under pressure or menace. The fact that Japan owes us a large sum of money would give us influence there and tend to arrest trouble. We have a delicate task on hand to negotiate a new treaty with the Mikado's government, and the sale of the Philippines would make that easier. With Manchuria, Formosa, and the Philippines as room for colonizing, the population pressure in Japan would be relieved, and there would be less reason for insisting on unrestricted emigration to the United States.

Let the subject be well discussed and "let there be light" on it. The Times is ready to exploit well-matured views of thinking citizens bearing upon this timely and important national problem.

Ward's successor.

IS IT TIME TO LET HIM OUT?

Venezuela has given concessions to companies, some formed in America, some in England, some in Germany. These corporations have invested large sums of money in attempts to develop the natural resources of Venezuela. They are not more to be trusted with a five-cent piece out of the owner's sight than a hungry dog is to be trusted with a bone. So through all the ranks and classes of society, there are good and bad sheep in every flock. To the honor of humanity be it said, the black sheep is the exception and not the whole flock.

THE NEW SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

There can be no doubt that there will be a steadier tone to the stock market and a general restoration of business confidence throughout the country now that Mr. Bryan has allowed it to be understood that he will appoint as his Secretary of the Interior the Hon. Jim Dahlman, Mayor of Omaha. Of course Jim can't be installed in office until a year from the fourth of next March, but the mere fact that he has got the job clinched will accomplish the same result as though he were already on his way to Washington.

While it is believed that Jim's appointment will be all that's necessary to allay the vaguer fears of panic that have been hovering like a dim specter over the financial destiny of the country, it is felt that Mr. Bryan stands ready to take further steps if called upon to do so. It is hardly fair, of course, to ask Mr. Bryan to reveal his entire Cabinet selections thus far in advance, but he will certainly not refuse to do so if the market does not at once respond as an effect of Dahlman's appointment. The Great Commoner may even consent to name his Secretary of War who is already well known to be no less a personage than Fighting Dink Splasher, captain of Co. C, Joplin, Missouri.

However, Mr. Bryan is not likely to be put to it. The public is not ungrateful, and it will be satisfied now with just knowing for sure that Jim Dahlman is to be the next Secretary of the Interior. You will immediately see that money will loosen up, farmers will quit slugging and calling one another liars, while confidence will be restored to an extent that a man will be almost able to borrow money on a government bond.

Such conduct as that of which Glass is accused is directly opposed to the general public interest, and that interest must always stand paramount, above the interest of any individual or of any corporation. Such a procedure, if successful, would establish an oppressive monopoly which would grind the people. There is only one proper safeguard for the public in business affairs, and that is competition. Experience has taught the world that without competition business cannot be fairly done. If then this official of the telephone company shall be proven to have used the funds of the company for the purpose of bribing the Supervisors to keep the rival competitor out of the city, the offense is very grave and should meet with decided punishment.

The reason that The Times is so emphatic in insisting that judgment be suspended until the guilt of the accused is established arises from a peculiar condition of the public mind at the present time. Louis Glass stands before the public not as an individual but as the representative of the telephone company which he represents in the city of San Francisco. Now let it be observed that we are not assuming his guilt or innocence. The case has not as yet been tried to a finish; and until all the testimony is in, analyzed by counsel, passed to the jury with the instructions of the court and a verdict found, it would be improper for the press to prejudge his case.

BORSIKOFF. — The legal allegation upon which Louis Glass, of the Pacific States Telephone Company, is being tried is that of bribing Supervisors to prevent a rival company from obtaining a franchise to do business in competition with the corporation which he represents in the city of San Francisco. "THE TIMES" SERIAL.

Paul Boriskoff, a Polish patriot, living in London, recently became implicated in one of his country's many plots to shake off the Russian yoke. In pronouncing this design he went to Warsaw, taking with him his beautiful 17-year-old daughter, Lois, who appears to have been as ardent a patriot as her father.

She, however, had a far stronger motive than he for wishing to return to Poland. While staying with Kosciusko, the son of one of the most distinguished Polish patriots, he was crushed long as Lois remained at large. But the girl, young as she was, had the cleverness to elude the wiles of the Third Section's agents. As she was not known to them by sight her escape was perhaps the easiest.

But the girl, young as she was, had the cleverness to elude the wiles of the Third Section's agents. As she was not known to them by sight her escape was perhaps the easiest.

Count Tarnowsky of the secret service hit on a shrewd plan for her capture. Going to London he picked an accomplice with Kosciusko, his friend and fellow patriot, and relating the facts of Boriskoff's capture, added that Lois was in danger in Warsaw, and that she had been engaged in Albin's presence and protection.

As the wily agent had foreseen, this false news was quite sufficient to awaken all of Albin Kennedy's loverly fears and to send him hastening wildly eastward on his mission of rescue. Tarnowsky accompanied him, ready to count her ransom

Ventura county this morning emphasizes her determination to keep her candidate well in the lead by sending her up another peg past the Lordsburg girl and onto the fourth perch. Almost 30,000 points in the last two days in her record. That's going some.

Yesterday everybody was on the run. Ben Hitchcock led up with a score of over 7500 points, all in subscriptions. Arizona claims Ben as its own, and that hustling Territory would like the distinction of holding the first place—a thing she has never yet accomplished, although she landed Orville Orris very near it in the contest. Ben's boyish teacher at Highland Park last fall called at headquarters yesterday. The lad was her pupil for a few weeks before he went to the race. Ben Hitchcock lacks less than 500 points behind his own number that last year's top-liner had on the morning of the last day of the contest, and Edna Wagner is almost 3000 points ahead of the one who stood second then, and Stanley Tolley is more than 3000 points beyond the score of the third.

OUR MAIL BAG.

Scores of letters and notes, accompanied by coupons, arrived daily. As a sample of the deep and kindly feeling of the general public they make interesting reading. A lady from Claremont writes: "I enclose a copy of our four month subscription and 100 coupons for Laura Easton. I am an old soldiers wife, and I am secretary of Vicksburg W.R.C., No. 37, in Ponoma."

"MRS. H. BURRANK." Another bunch of coupons came for Laura.

Mr. Alan C. Rush, of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, sends a subscription and 100 coupons for Ellen Robinson and writes: "Next week I shall have more for the brave little girl."

An old gentleman, N. R. Thayer, sends a big package of coupons for Rosine LeHardy, and writes, in a trembling hand: "I am 82 years old. I have saved the coupons every year."

An anonymous well-wisher from Claremont sends 100 coupons for Zeda Fish, and a Poly High girl remembers Geraldine Fuller in the same way. An annual subscription from Cucamonga was sent to the office yesterday for Geraldine too, which indicates that she is stirring up things in that neck of the woods.

Mrs. Eleanor Owens of San Pedro sends coupons for Ben Hitchcock and writes: "I am very anxious for him to win, as I think him deserving, from the bottom of my heart. I am a total stranger." Miss Vera Edwards of Glendale writes: "The people of Glendale are very much interested in Ben, and I see that he has again reached the top, and I am very glad, for he is such a bright boy. I send Rosine LeHardy a handful yesterday in the shape of a two year old post subscription from San Bernardino, which counted her 2000 points. She rises two rows this morning, and is but three below the cash prize crowd.

Laura Lloyd had the toothache all day, but nevertheless rounded up enough points to pass Fannie Wolf and rise a row, keeping beside Rosine.

Margaret Chung beats her competitor this morning by exactly ten points. Mary Johnson, poised Irene Wadey, and Hazel Pester crowds the morning's board.

Altogether there was a good deal of shuffling about and settling on new numbers. Ben Hitchcock lacks less than 500 points behind his own number that last year's top-liner had on the morning of the last day of the contest, and Edna Wagner is almost 3000 points ahead of the one who stood second then, and Stanley Tolley is more than 3000 points beyond the score of the third.

A page from Experience.

SOUTH PASADENA, Aug. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As the political condition of San Francisco is awry, calling for a normal reconstruction, I fancy the memory of an old New Yorker, in a similar trial, in his native city, may be of sufficient interest to your readers, for its insertion.

Mr. Wright pursued the search with his well-trained nose, but no odor of mustiness assailed his nostrils. He knew that there were two bread bins, and one left open, airing while the other is in use.

Sacks of flour and cereals were raised from the floor, lying across a heavy open frame permitting of the passage of all about each sack.

The kitchen of a first class hotel were "clean," commented the inspector when he had made his rounds, "wonderfully clean in comparison with what I've found in other places, but not so clean as this."

The County Jail was subject to inspection under the law, because of the few paid boarders there. The result of the inspection was a revelation to the man who has been discovering horrors of filth since the real crusade against unclean restaurants began.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 1907.

Los Angeles Daily Times. II

RAID GAMBLING PLACE.

friend led them back along a hall to a side door, which opened at his knock. They were admitted into a room stacked with a big, handsome roulette table, stacked high with gold and silver; in a smaller back room was a faro lay-out, which was so crooked that the dealer had gone blind in one eye in the effort of following its contours.

The fat young man with the noisy clothes very ostentatiously signed a check, which the roulette dealer cashed. This booster must be in bad odor with the gang, if they won't trust him with boosting money outside the place.

The booster sat in at the roulette wheel and began encouraging the supposed poor little lambs by betting the most recklessly amounts, $100 at the turn of the wheel.

One of the detectives—for the two men were detectives—played roulette and the other faro. They let the man at the wheel win a little just for stability; at one time he got up as high as $75, but then lost all but $17 back in the raid come. Then trimmed the man at the faro layout from the start.

There were four or five other men playing and losing. Two were local men and two more were from Arizona and one from Tomopah.

THE TRAP SPRINGS.

A few minutes before 10 o'clock Sheriff Disty North and Constable De la Monte and eleven officers met in front of the building. Five men were rapidly posted about the building to make escape impossible.

Stepping over the warning bumper horse with the "spring hall" the gamblers fled.

Being the last night of their stay, they were fatally careless. You could hear the click of chips and the monotonous, but musical whirr of the roulette wheel from the head of the stairs.

One officer was left at the head of the stairs, and the others tip-toed around the hall with their watches in their hands.

Exactly at 10, they heard one of the dealers within taking his leave, and the click of the chips stopped for a moment.

"Well good-by," they heard one sing out, "we will see you in Goldfield."

In two seconds the room was full of noise.

The sporting "rent" with the loud clothes—the capper—changed color and looked about wildly for an escape, but the roulette dealer never batted an eye.

He leaped over the other officer and his shoulder gambler flung toward him with the stack of chips at the edge of the table; his little, ratty, sharp face wore a slight sneer, half of amusement.

The one-eyed man who was dealing faro in the inner room never rose from his seat, but looked on quietly until they came in and read the warrant to him.

The men who were merely there to gamble begged like dogs to let out. A terrible epidemic of sick wives started on the spot. When all of the complaints that sick wives could have were exhausted, one fellow said his poor wife was home with a broken arm.

North went around the room, taking names.

North turned to the man next to him.

"Mine's Jones," he said. North snatched pencil at him. "That don't go," he said shortly, "I don't want to ruin the reputation of the Jones family."

"Oh, well, make it Smith then," replied the man amiably.

WHO RUNS THE PLACE.

The man at the roulette wheel gave the name of Fisher and showed four licenses permitting H. K. Fisher to operate a roulette wheel at Benson, Ariz.

The faro dealer said his name was Spires. The stationery of the Venice Club gives the name of the president as D. J. Spires and the secretary as H. M. Dubois. The club register gives the names of many of the gamblers one who have been trimmed; the list appears below.

The gamblers were ordered to pack up their paraphernalia, but were allowed to take their money. The roulette wheel, worth $1485 in gold coin from the table, and one-eyed man put it in sacks and North escorted him into a back room.

He dived quickly into the dark of the room but North found the electric button and turned on a flood light.

"Oh, don't worry," said the one-eyed man nervously. "I ain't got any fire arms about me and we are going to be as much gentlemen as we can."

He paid the sack of money away in a leather wallet and stuck it in his coat pocket. North reached into it and took the money.

Meanwhile the deputies took a complete account of the paraphernalia of the outfit.

WHOLE OUTFIT "CROOKED."

The room of the roulette table was fitted with close black oilcloth curtains to keep in the light and sound.

The table was taken apart, but so far no one discovered how it was "fixed."

The faro wheel in the back room was supplied with a complete outfit for crooked work. Alongside the dealer lay a case containing about a dozen decks of cards all dented at the top, as a means of marking them or showing the effects of certain grips, by which certain cards can be held in the machine.

Whatever money and chips may have been on the table were all scooped out before the officers could get in.

In the front rooms, facing Windward Avenue, was found the poker department.

There were two rooms, one back of the other, each supplied with a big table. Each had a "kitty," but a black cloth had been laid over the dice.

Across the hall, in the front of the room, was found a tiny drawing room. On a table in the corner was the regular lamp which was signed by each one of the men who entered the dive.

The other, more modest room, and in this room was an enormous trunk from the Secretary of State. Inside of this room was a blind pig with a little hair and fine quality booze enough for a warship.

These Arizona gamblers lived high. Most of the liquor was fine old whisky; refrigerator was full of it; there were also a few lonesome bottles of beer.

The gamblers watched with foreboding while all the outfit was being seized. One of the Arizona men turned around and with a rueful expression examined the "fixed" game, for which disease his sick wife had him in his bed and wisdom.

North left all the muckers in a hole while, to their almost tearful regret, the gamblers watched their exit.

"Kin we give ball?" asked the owner man.

"We hundred cash," responded North promptly.

North only answered with a disdainful smile.

The one-eyed man grabbed for a

Los Angeles County—Its Cities and Towns.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

WILL QUIT THE DESK.
FLOWERS CALL,
AND HE YIELDS.

SECRETARY OF PASADENA TRADE BOARD TO RESIGN.

Will Give His Attention to the Culture of Plants and Things That Bloom—No Forecast as to His Successor—Dear Taken Near Orchard Camp.

Office of The Times, No. 35 S. Raymond avenue.
PASADENA, Aug. 29.—The call of the plants who flowers has robbed the Pasadena Board of Trade of its secretary. The report which had been waiting about town for several days that Secretary D. W. Coolidge would tender his resignation to the board on next Tuesday evening has been confirmed by the gentleman himself.

"Yes," he said. "I have come into the plant and flower business and will tender my resignation to the board at the meeting of the directors on next Tuesday evening. I will ask that the resignation take effect on the first of December and after that time I will give my attention exclusively to the culture of plants and flowers."

For some time Secretary Coolidge has been gaining local and State fame as a horticulturist and floriculturist. He has a reputation also as a grape authority and can tell just what brand of juice will be squeezed under proper pressure from the various varieties. He will take up the Gardner's magazine and side issue, and continue to conduct the local publication. He is the president of the corporation which will father the periodical. It will be devoted to landscape gardening and floriculture.

In his term of office as secretary of the Board of Trade Mr. Coolidge has won a reputation for himself as a booster of and for Pasadena. He always had something on the string to advertise the advantages of the crown city and it is a lamentable fact that he cannot be persuaded to leave his office in the office. The call of the wild, of the fruit and the vine, is too strong.

The resignation of Mr. Coolidge as secretary of the Board of Trade will probably be the signal for his resignation also from the executive committee of the Pasadena Merchants' Association. The two offices go together more or less and the past two years has seen them under the care of Mr. Coolidge, good and prosperous.

Who will be nominated as successor to Mr. Coolidge is unknown, and no forecast of the identity of the next board secretary has been made by those on the inside of board politics.

Mr. Coolidge, it is understood, will act in his advisory capacity at the board until the expiration of his regular term in May. He will probably hold his office as secretary of the Merchants' Association until it expires of itself in November, but will not submit to have his name placed in nomination for reelection.

BAGS TWO-SPINED BUCK.
A. H. Calkins of Ingleside made the big catch of the season on Mount Wilson yesterday, when he bagged a two-spined buck with a half mile of Orchard's Camp. The night before, the wild cat had made the campers turn out in their night shirts and hunt for six-shooters and guns, while he furnished the waltz music for the hunt. They were given Mr. Calkins' nerves, and he was to be the wife of his next day and best man. Falling ill, he was proceeding leisurely along the face of the mountain, when he jumped two deer. He took a shot at one and missed. Another shell was pumped into the gun, and another bullet whizzed close enough to accost the flight of the wild animal. By that time Mr. Calkins had gotten over his buck blues, and the third shot was fired with success. It broke the deer's back.

EAST SIDE SEWER.
That sanitary sewer for the East Side has again been beaten back by adverse winds and another hitch in the proceedings has resulted from the loss of the services of former engineer Mayer and Mr. Hering. City Engineer Van Ornum came to the rescue of the Council in its distress, and is now compiling another set of figures on the sewer project, which will also be put to the voters to decide the possibility of constructing the sewer. The debates in the sessions of the City Council will follow the rendering of the new set of estimates in the near future.

WHICH WAS THE GOOSE?
A goose is a goose and a woman is a goose when she asks a goose question, but it is for the police department of Pasadena to determine which is the greater. The one who picked it or the one which was picked. A man whose name the police fail to divulge called upon Detective Copping this morning and asked him to please ask for permission to pick a goose so her hubbies could have a goose for dinner, the little goose. Questioning the fact that the woman labored under the impression that the Humane Society had forbidden the picking of geese, whether dead or not, on the grounds that it was cruel to rob them of their pin feathers.

TO PEDDLE AQUA PURA.
Los Angeles has asked Pasadena to answer some questions relative to the use of Owens River water. The questions are: Total area of irrigation in this vicinity and this city, the amount of urban population dependent on the acreage, and the size of the suburban population. The size of the known cereal, vegetables, small fruit and citrus fruit trees bearing and coming into bearing, the annual gross value per acre of the irrigation of streams being used, the value of the dry land before irrigation, and the value of present dry land that has at present no prospect of irrigation, and how much land one miner's men will irrigate and the cost per acre in this vicinity, the size of the ranches around here, the assessed value of the irrigating district that is now under irrigation and the total bank deposits of this city. The questions are asked by J. P. Lippincott and Secretary Coolidge of the Board of Trade will send replies.

PASADENA NOTES.
Chairman C. D. Daggett stated today that Engineer Loder of the Highway Commission was busy whipping into shape the data gathered on the various recent trips of the commissioners over the southern roadways. He will make a report in the near future to the commission covering the points already investigated. The commissioners will meet with the Ventura county Supervisors September 7 to talk over road matters.

Pasadena, according to the Irrigation Committee at Sacramento will leave for the capital tomorrow night. The delegates include A. H. Chamberlain, T. D. Allen, Henry Newby, W. B. Clapp and J. Conroy Keyes. The formalities will take place in the north and will take several cities in the interests of the trip while gone.

NEAR DEATH BY REVOLVER PLAY.

LONG BEACH BOY ALMOST KILLS HIS COMPANION.

Careless Handling of Firearm Results in Wound Which, Located Differently, Might Be Fatal—Marriage of Popular Seashore Girl to Berkeley Newspaper Man.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 29.—A loaded revolver and a careless boy came near causing the death of Charles Adams, aged 10, this morning. As it was a bullet went through the lad's ear and buried itself in the wall.

Young Adams and a chum, Willis Hinley, were prowling about a cottage near the Adams home, the tenants of which, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wiesenbom, moved out yesterday to go to Arizona. In one of the rooms they found a loaded 32-calibre revolver, and boy-like, Hinley pointed it at young Adams and pulled the trigger. The bullet passed through the upper part of Adams' ear so close to the head that it was powder-burned, and with a cry, the wounded boy dropped. Young Hinley, believing he had killed his chum, nearly swooned, but managed to give an alarm and medical aid was at once summoned, and the fear of the carefree gun handle relieved.

FISHER-MOODY.
One of the prettiest weddings witnessed in Long Beach took place tonight in the First Baptist Church when Miss Edna May Moody, daughter of Mrs. E. P. Moody, and Eugene I. Fisher were united in marriage. Both families are prominent in the lives in Long Beach and are popular among the younger set, and this was attested by the attendance at the church, which was packed to the doors.

The auditorium of the new church was tastefully decorated, the work of Miss Grace Moody. The three arches were a mass of white and pink carnations with a large wedding bell of white carnations suspended from the center arch and pink bells from the smaller arches.

Just before the arrival of the wedding party, Miss Edna and Hart sang "Promise Me" with Miss Theta Lynn presiding at the big organ.

The groom was attended by his best man, Ralph Hamilton, of Los Angeles, and the bride by her bridesmaids and sister, Miss Grace Moody. Preceding the ceremony were the mothers, Mrs. Hart, Leo Smith, Howard Stodder, Lee Powell, Eugene Fischer and Ernest Hamilton. Then came the flower girls, Misses Eleanor Hart, Josephine Oxford, Alice Van Eaton and Angelina Schallenger, and the ring-bearer, Little Eddie.

The party was met at the alter by Rev. J. Lewis Smith who assisted by Rev. Charles Pease, conducted the ceremony, using the double ring service.

Following the ceremony, there was a short reception after which Mr. and Mrs. Fisher were driven to their home and took the electric car for Los Angeles, catching a night train for Berkley, their future home. The bride has been for years a court stenographer and an employee of the National Bank of Los Angeles, and the Long Beach Savings Bank. The young woman educated in the public schools and at Berkeley, is the Berkeley editor of the Oakland Tribune. The popularity of the young people was attested by the many wedding gifts which filled an entire room at the Moody home.

SEASHORE BREEZES.
Joseph Branson, aged 22, an employe on the Torrey ranch, had a narrow escape from death last night after being gored and tossed by an angry bear. Branson was preparing for evening milking when one of the cows charged him, and going into the left breast just under the armpit, tossed him eight feet away. Prompt assistance probably saved his life, as the angry bossy was charging the prostrate man when driven away. The gash inflicted is serious, but not necessarily fatal.

In order to force the legal acceptance of the postoffice building by the architect, the California Cottage Committee, which today locked the doors of the structure and posted warning signs forbidding entrance. The company, which is in financial difficulties, has part of its money held back until thirty-five days after the acceptance and this the company is anxious to get hold of the architect with dilatory in his acceptance, but came to a standstill thus forced. The postmaster had made arrangements to move Sunday, and this entanglement threatened for a while to delay him. The first delivery of mail from the new building will be made Monday evening.

Frank Strong, a local realty operator, and Thomas Sandusky of Los Angeles had a narrow miss from death last night on American avenue. Approaching the traffic-light angle in touring car, Mr. Strong saw a Pacific Electric train bearing down on him, and found to his dismay that his brakes would not work. The motorman saw the peril in time to avoid a collision, stopping within a few feet of the machine.

Miss Eleanor Todd, injured by jumping from a Pacific Electric car Monday night, is improving rapidly, and will be moved to her home in Pomona in a few days.

City Attorney Skinner says the Pacific Electric must pay 2 per cent. of its gross receipts on the First-street franchise and is preparing papers for that company to do so.

The first act will be an application to Atty. Gen. Webb for an annulment of the First-street line franchise, after which the suit to recover will be filed. The Pacific Electric has given notice of an intention to contest the same.

The Bolsa Chica Gun Club has offered $500 reward for the apprehension of the person they believed scuttled the dredger in Fresh Creek last week. The machine has been loaded and repaired at an expense of $1500, and is ready to begin dredging out three miles of the creek above the dam, which the club believes will end the fever between it and surrounding farmers which has existed ever since the dam was built.

An unusual run of gardines about the waterfront, joyous fishing for men, who catch them in dip nets and salt them down for winter bait. Mackeral are also running, although fishing is the principal catch with rod and line. Just as present.

Miss Helen Smiley, of Los Angeles, while sitting at the Majestic Rink last night, fell, and striking her head with terrific force, was unconscious for two hours. It was feared at first that her skull was fractured.

Miss Smiley fainted in front of the bath-house today when a small boy ran after her, twisting one of her arms painfully. Her companion, Miss Helen Hansome, attempted to catch her and both fell. Miss Hansome, who was riding on the sharp edge of the walk, breaking off two front teeth and badly cutting her lips. Both were taken to the bath-house hospital and given medical attention.

Contractor Postetter today began work on the Atlantic-avenue storm sewer, designed to drain the city streets during the rainy season. Before half the day was over the work, mostly Slavonian, became disatisfied, and stopped for the time. They were paid promptly, and their tools filled with little delay. The rain runs to the ocean and extends north to Anaheim street.

The Pasadena Christian Endeavor Society is picnicking at the beach on Labor Day. One of the features of the day will be a fish bake on the beach at 5 o'clock.

The congregation of Plymouth Church last night accepted the resignation of Rev. Ralph B. Larkin, who appointed one committee to draft suitable resolutions and another to hunt for a successor. The resignation is to take effect September 15. Rev. Larkin desired to continue his theological studies at Oberlin.

The Ohio Society of Southern California will hold its annual picnic at the beach Saturday, September 7. The local society has appointed committees to arrange for reception of visitors and a programme.

Complaints at San Dimas County Division Meeting About What District Gets.

SAN DIMAS, Aug. 29.—The first meeting in San Dimas in favor of county division was held here last night, the Fraternal Hall being crowded. O. W. Hoke, president of the San Dimas Board of Trade, presided. Dr. R. P. Shepherd of Pomona, who was the chief speaker, said, in part:

"We find in Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties three great interests. First, we have the desert and its resources; second, the great horticultural and agricultural interests, and then Los Angeles, the metropolis of the Pacific Coast; her interests are in the city and suburbs; they are municipal interests, shipping interests, Owen Roberts.

"Our interests are different, topographically and socially. They are exclusively horticultural and agricultural. There is in Los Angeles a distinct office-holding class. We pay the wage demanded immediately, supervising our work.

SANTA FE SWITCHMAN HERO IN SAN DIEGO.

Hands on Footboard of Locomotive Colliding With Automobile and Keeps Women Occupants of the latter from Falling to the Track in Front.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M.J. SAN DIEGO, Aug. 29.—An automobile accident late last night came near causing the death of Will Rogers, a member of the Merchants' National Bank, and three young ladies, who were with him, Miss Helen and Ruth Smith and Cora Edmonds.

That it did not result fatally is largely due to the bravery of A. E. Watkins, a switchman in the local Santa Fe yards, who sustained a broken leg and many bruises by standing steadily on the footboard of the engine as it collided with the automobile.

The engine struck the tonneau of the switch at the corner of H and Arctic streets. The locomotive carried the switch thirty or forty feet before the engine could stop and all the time Watkins stood almost between the two machines, preventing the women from falling to the track in front. He is at the auditorium. The others were also unharmed.

JUDGE ISSUES DEFI.

Riverside County Juris at Santa Ana Recalls Early Days of the Border.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 29.—"I defy them," declared Superior Judge Denison of Riverside county here today. Denison had just opened a threatening letter, and it came from him that most of his life had been spent in frontier towns where there are an every day affair. This morning Judge Denison gave suspended sentences to two young men who had pleaded guilty to robbing Sarah Baker at Fresno on Aug. 16. One of the robbers was George Williams, who was placed under probation for three years, and the other was Price Hunton, who was placed under probation for one year.

The threatening letter was handed to Judge Denison at the dinner table after he had passed sentence on Williams and Hunton.

SANTA ANA, August 28, 27. Judge Denison: Say of man if you ever either Williams a strenuous sentence or death if your life is worth hell room.

Now deal square with Hunton and Williams or we will hang you truly yours.

BILL JONES. "If I thought that Williams and Hunton had anything to do with that," said Judge Denison, "I would invoke the order of probation and send them both to San Quentin. I want the gang to know that they can't get away with their bad acts and nothing to do with the lewdness shown Williams and Hunton this morning. I spent most of my life in a border country, but I hardly expected anything like this in Orange county. All three men involved in the robbery of Baker are now out on probation. Alfred Clary, the principal offender, was given a four-year probation by Judge Conklin of San Diego. Williams was going to fight it out, but Hunton who had offered to turn over his changed his plea of not guilty to guilty. Hunton was dealt with fairly because he had offered to turn over his evidence. Baker was knocked down and $21 taken from him.

ANAHUAC. Aug. 29.—The City Trustees have fixed the tax levy for the year 1907 at $1.62 per $100 valuation, this being an increase of 40 per cent over last year's rate. San Bernardino Justice Sentences for Theft of Machinists' Tools from Shops.

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 29.—Thomas Jones, one of the members of the Blake-Place-Jones gang of burglars, this morning pleaded guilty before Justice Thomas to a charge of petty larceny, in having stolen machinist's tools from the Santa Fe shop, and he was sentenced to a term of six months in the County Jail. His sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Jones, had her examination this afternoon, charged with complicity in the burglary of the Jameson residence, and was bound over to answer before Superior Court. In default of bonds she was taken to jail. The Jones preliminary was unusually pathetic for the reason that the pretty prisoner had in her arms an infant of several months, which several times wept convulsively. No defense was offered, and the only witness cross-examined was Miss Davidson, niece of Mr. and Mrs. James, who identified the loot taken from her uncle's house.

SAN BERNARDINO POINTS.

W. H. Swan this morning commenced suit against Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walden of Redlands to quiet his title to a three-acre orange orchard at Redlands, which he recently bought of Walden. This is the second echo from the divorce proceedings instituted by Mrs. Walden, claiming desertion, failure to provide, and abuse. It is stated by friends that the Waldens have agreed to sever the matrimonial yoke, she to be allowed a divorce without a contest, and the sale of the orchard to Swan was one of the steps toward a settlement of their property interests.

DREAM PARTLY TRUE.

While Colton Woman Has Vision of Her Insane Husband He, Escaped, Is on Way to Her.

COLTON, Aug. 29.—While Mrs. John George was dreaming last night that her husband, who had been insane for a number of years, was standing over her, trying to choke her, Mr. George, who escaped from the State Hospital for the Insane at Patton, during parole, was on his way to San Bernardino and Colton hoping to see his wife and little children. Not finding his wife at her San Bernardino home, he went late in the evening to the home of her parents and then drove over to Colton, where one of his little boys is staying with an aunt. Nightwatchman Magill was notified and put the man in jail.

This morning a police officer met the man at the office and found he had torn the bed quilts into pieces and thrust them out between the bars. He had removed the most of his clothing and cast it in water. He sat dejectedly on a mattress which he had ripped open and torn to shreds. When an attempt was made to take him back to the hospital and several men were required to assist the attendant in placing the unfortunate man on the car.

George was at one time one of the bright young men of Colton. His mental derangement, which came rather suddenly upon him eight years ago, is generally attributed to work which he did in a quarry where the hot sun beat upon his uncovered head all day.

Downey and Riverton, and the derrick which will be the next crop, are in fine condition, and all signs point to a record-breaking year for that crop.

DAIRY HERD INFECTED.

REDLANDS, Aug. 29.—A part of a large herd of cows which are situated on the Dunlap ranch in Yucaipa Valley has been infected with what is known as the anthrax bacilli.

The more advanced cases have ready succumbed. So steadily and so deadly has the disease acted that it is believed to be certainly anthrax, as to other known cattle disease produces the same symptoms.

Since the blood analyzed in Redlands this afternoon also show bacilli conforming to the attributes of anthrax bacilli. Dr. L. R. Tritton, a veterinary surgeon, who was called to the ranch in temporary charge of the situation. He has notified the State board and a State inspector will arrive here tomorrow to investigate.

There are nearly a thousand head of cattle in the herd and if the disease should spread an enormous loss would result.

Until the situation has been cleared up none of the products of the dairy will be permitted to come into Redlands.

PURIFYING VENTURA.

Scarlet Women of That City Are Preparing to Leave for Other Localities.

VENTURA, Aug. 29.—The women of the "red-light" district of this city are busy packing their trunks and preparing to get out of town by the first of September. Today one of the largest houses of prostitution is being built with the help of a famous furnace in a vacant room, up town.

Whether this is to be sent for later by the women or to be left until the Ventura clouds roll away is not known.

The three houses have about a dozen inmates. There has been for some time agitation against this section, and the City Council passed an order that the women get out of town.

With them will go several Japanese prostitutes who have been housed in Chinatown.

APRICOT MEN'S STRUGGLE.

At Fresno the Coatings Oil Company, which represents about twenty or more corporations operating in the apricot belt, is in a fight to keep control of their industry.

The farmers here have already organized a fruit growers' association and sent representatives to San Francisco to try to interest the Society of the Apricot Industry. It appears that dried fruits had been classed by the government with catsup, sauerkraut and other articles in which sulphur is used and the effect will be to get them out of this class of food. Also, it developed that unscrupulous dealers, after they had held the fruit a long time, are in the habit of wetting and again sulphuring it. This is now known to the authorities.

It appears that although the price for apricots is high there are none being sold and there is no market for them. A committee of growers here has been instructed to go ahead in whatever way they think best, and to get the chief of the experiment station to examine the fruit and have him go on to Washington with his report. It is possible that a way will soon have to be found for the growers to dry, handle and sell the union of the two churches, and the congregations will meet jointly in two weeks to take action upon the matter. Both churches are alike in every way except that the services of the Swedish Lutheran church are conducted in Swedish. As practically every member of the local church speaks English fluently, it is believed that the proposed union will be looked upon favorably. The Swedish church is now without a pastor. Rev. O. N. Gim has resigned a few weeks ago to accept a call from the Swedish Lutheran church of Eureka.

The development of a new oil field for Los Angeles county, was made public yesterday, the actual fact, the owners of the Myers ranch gave the Union Oil Company of this city, a twenty-year lease of the property. The ranch, which is situated near Santa Fe Springs, consists of 419 acres, which the Union has acquired, less 225 acres, retained by the owner. The Union will start development work immediately and will rush it with all possible speed, the derrick is already up and rigs have been ordered sent out. I'S CRUSHED AND KILLED BY CAGE.

QUICK DEATH FOR CHILD IN ELEVATOR SHAFT.

Caught on Wall as Car Goes Up She Is Ruled Between Side of Wall and Moving Floor—Operator Is Exonerated—Machinery of Most Modern Type.

Vivian Young, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Young of Coacheila, was crushed to death between the iron-shod edge of an elevator floor and the wall of a shaft in the Coulter building yesterday at noon.

The girl and her mother had been in the city only a few days. They had been having a little vacation with friends in Orange county, and were on their way back to join the father at the Coacheila home.

They had spent their short visit in the city at No. 427 Boylston street. Yesterday morning the woman, accompanied by the girl, went shopping. They intended to take the train in the afternoon, and little Vivian was anxious to find something nice for her father. With her mother, the golden-haired tot trudged from store to store until her small legs had become tired with the walking.

They finally went to the Coulter building, by some mistake entered the office department instead of the dry goods department. They walked into the corridor at No. 212 South Broadway. The elevator was in the rear of the building, one of the modern Ochs manufacture. They had been installed only a short time, and had been thoroughly inspected and accepted by the elevator inspector. The elevator operator, Jacob Petersen, is considered one of the most careful men in the city. He had never had an accident before.

The woman stepped into the cage. With a hop the little girl followed her. She was about to enjoy a ride with which she was not acquainted. She had never ridden in an elevator before this little girl from the country. The mother stooped forward to rest the heavy suit cases she carried. As she did so the car shot upward. There came a high surprise from the little girl who made one little leap as if in consternation, and her tiny head went close to the wall. Like a flash the baby body was caught between the floor of the car and the overhanging ledge. There was a sharp motion of the part of the elevator floor as it reversed the lever of his cage risking his life in a desperate change, but it was too late.

The tiny body, from which life had already fled, was drawn and crushed into the crevice between the car and the wall. Five feet the cage dragged the body upward, while the agonized mother, her hands gripped at her torn, torn heart, watched the grinding work of the iron and lumber. Another five feet and that little body, freed from the cage, fell down into the shaft to the edge of a sharp spring, thirty feet below, and was literally cut to pieces.

Then, as the little one disappeared, reason fled from the mother. With a shriek she fell to the floor of the cage and screamed for her baby. The elevator man gave her heed. He was at a loss. He dropped his car on his face, he looked down between the wall of the shaft and the edge of the car floor. The horror he saw there was reflected in his face as he straightened up and set his steps upon the third floor. There he assisted the fainting woman out of the cage, called a physician, and notified the authorities, and then cradled his baby in the building and fell to the floor as he died.

He was found there later by the police and taken to the station. His explanation of the case exonerated him entirely of blame and he was released. An inquest will be held over the little girl.

The accident could not have happened except to a little child. On the first floor of the building, the floor extends a little to meet the floor of the elevator. Then, because of the fact that the metal frame and glass door of the little room is six inches between the edge of the floor of

A unique picnic was held in Eastlake Park yesterday under the auspices of El Club Belen, the new branch of Bethlehem Institution at No. 618 New High street, the dinner being furnished by the ladies of the First Congregational Church.

About fifty children, all under fourteen years of age, and representing six nationalities and seven different types of religion, took part in the festivities, and truly had "the time of their lives." We took every precaution to prevent such an accident. The elevation was practically normal and the model just. I believe that the little girl, becoming frightened at the elevator as it shot upward, leaped toward the wall and in that way was caught under the slight projection of the car perfectly to tail about."

The elevator was passed upon by the inspector and considered perfectly safe," said Manager Coulter yesterday.

Spasms*St. Vitus' Dance

Many persons who suffered untold agonies from epilepsy, fits, spasms, and St. Vitus' Dance are today well. The strengthening influence of Dr. Miles' Nervine upon the shattered nerves having restored them to perfect health.

"I endured agony that words cannot express from St. Vitus' dance, which followed a very severe spell of rheumatism. After the fit I took of his medicine the worse I got. My mother's devotional ardor, however, and his physical strength, which was not impaired by the disease, enabled me to get along. I took Dr. Miles' Nervine and the first dose to the last continual change for the better was noticeable, and when I had taken eleven bottles I was well, and I am now in perfect health."

EDWARD D. REAM,
North Manchester, Indiana.

"Our little boy Harry had spasms for three years, and although we do not know what caused them, he continued to grow worse until he had ten spasms in one week. About that time we met Dr. Miles' Nervine and the first dose to the last continual change for the better was noticeable, and when he had taken the fourth bottle I was well, and I am now in perfect health."

"I have a son, 10 years old, who has had spasms for two years. He has been to many physicians and they have not been able to cure him. He has had fits, convulsions, and fits of screaming. He has been to Dr. Miles' office and he has been cured. He is now a healthy, happy boy."
